ZiMUN JCC Procedure:

The Joint Crisis Committee (JCC) is a committee where delegates deal with real-time issues and developments. It is a whole-delegation plenary session to bring together delegations and address issues of timely global significance.

Country Assignment

Each participating school is assigned a set of countries (indicated above), with delegates representing these countries banding together to form a delegation. If a delegation only has one representative, they join another larger delegation from their school. Individual delegates, please join another school with the same country.

Historical Commission Countries

Because some of the countries in the Historical Commission are different to the ones today, please just join a larger delegation that your school is allocated to.

Operative Clause Submission

It is mandatory for each delegation to draft and submit one operative clause, along with any necessary sub-clauses. This operative clause should reflect the delegation's stance and proposed solutions on the issue. Please discuss with your delegation as a whole before submitting this operative clause. The submission deadline is 3 pm on Friday, March 7th, and all submissions are to be submitted via the designated Google Form linked HERE.

General Debate Procedure

The JCC follows the general debate procedure present in all committees. However, each delegation that has submitted an operative clause has one delegate designated as their ambassador/main submitter.

Each operative clause is treated like a resolution, meaning that:
- Delegates will ask POIs to the main submitter after their speech.
- Delegates may and are encouraged to propose amendments to modify the operative clauses, with these amendments then being debated and voted upon.
- Delegates deliver speeches both for and against the operative clause.

When the House votes on each operative clause, the delegation votes together, casting one vote.

Operative clauses that receive a majority of votes are passed and added to the main resolution.
